Davis Calibration Hires New CIO

September 8, 2009 – BALTIMORE – Davis Calibration (DavisCalibration.com) is pleased to announce the appointment of John Meighan as its new Chief Information Officer (CIO).

Meighan comes to Davis Calibration with more than 17 years of experience in business operations, technology leadership and consulting, and program management. Most recently, Meighan served as Chief Technology Officer (CTO) for OneWorld Lab. In that capacity, he was responsible for developing a suite of technology solutions to improve the quality of medical laboratories and healthcare facilities in developing countries. Prior to that, Meighan spent more than nine years with EMG, one of the nation's largest engineering and environmental consulting firms. As CIO and a member of the EMG Executive Management team, Meighan led the development and deployment of numerous software development projects and business process applications which resulted in new revenue growth and improved turnaround time for EMG.

"We are honored to have John join the executive team at Davis Calibration," said Mark Rohde, President & CEO of Davis Calibration. "Meighan's IT leadership experience and knowledge will serve Davis Calibration and our clients in a positive and productive way moving forward."

As Davis Calibration's CIO, Meighan will be responsible for overseeing all aspects of the IT strategy and operations for employees and clients; building an IT roadmap that is aligned with the business goals and objectives of the company, running the professional development of the IT team; and assisting Davis Calibration and all of its employees in reaching their collective and individual potential.
